Hisab Calculator:
Syariah Inheritance Law

- We created a tiered solution that would: (1) address the lack of awareness on certain legal rights; (2) provide guided assistance through complicated legal processes; and (3) provide specific tools for specific needs (e.g. for migrant worker rights and for Syariah inheritance law). It was important that we take a multi-pronged approach.

- Kaki: An AI chat bot that would be able to answer simple legal questions, we sourced answers from law firms' QnA pages.
- Juris Avenue: A decision tree that guides users through certain processes depending on the options they chose
- Just Connect: A platform that matches pro bono lawyers and clients

What do you do next?

Thank you for finishing this questionnaire! You are one step closer to claiming your salary. The next compulsory step would be to register your claim at the Tripartite Alliance for Dispute Management, TADM (visit: tal.sg/tadm).

1) Register your claim at TADM

- Visit tal.sg/tadm/eservices/employees-file-employment-claim to file your claim online.
- Check again that you
 - are filing a claim below $20,000
 - are filing within 1 year of the salary dispute, if you are still working for your boss; OR within 6 months of your last date of work, if you are not working for your boss anymore
- If you are claiming for $10,000 or less, you must pay a registration fee of $10. If you are claiming for more than $10,000, you must pay a registration fee of $20. You must pay by credit card/ debit card/ eNETS via internet banking within 3 days of registration.

2) Going for mediation at TADM

- Bring with you
 - identification documents (eg. Work pass card)
 - this printed final calculation sheet
 - any other supporting documents (eg. Employment contract, In-Principle Approval letter, Payslip, Timecard, etc.)
- Professional mediators will conduct the session with you and your boss, or a representative from the company. Each session will take 2-3 hours.
